

Throughout the history, a number of Christian religious buildings in Northern Cyprus have been given new uses both sacred and secular by the Turkish Cypriot community.

Churches appropriated as mosques before 1974 and still used as mosques

Churches appropriated as mosques before 1974 and given new functions

Churches that maintain their function after 1974

Churches maintaining their function after 1974 with an additional function

Churches appropriated as mosques after 1974 and still used as mosques

Churches that were given secular functions after 1974

